

Introduction to GuardianGamer.

COACH'S ONE-PAGER

A primer for guiding parents through their child's gaming life — what GuardianGamer is, how it works, and how to bring it into your workshops. Designed to print on a single sheet.

GuardianGamer is a parenting app — just released on the App Store. It's not a screen-time blocker, and it's not a content filter. It turns each gaming session into a 90-second highlight reel — what your child built, who they played with, and any moments worth a parent's attention. Visibility, not surveillance.

WHAT PARENTS SEE

- ✓ Daily 90-second highlight reels
- ✓ Who their child played with (trusted groups only)
- ✓ What was built, achieved, attempted
- ✓ Time spent · games played · spending events
- ✓ AI-flagged unusual moments

WHAT PARENTS DO NOT SEE

- ✗ Raw voice recordings
- ✗ Verbatim chat transcripts
- ✗ Every keystroke or click
- ✗ Friends not in the trusted group
- ✗ A live screen feed

01

Download the app

Parent installs GuardianGamer on their phone, creates the family dashboard, adds each child as a "gamer."

02

Connect the child's device

A pairing code lets the child play on a parent's phone, on their own iPhone or iPad, or in any browser at joinmy.gg.

03

Receive insights

~20 minutes after each session, AI-generated highlight reels and summaries arrive in the parent app. Conversations follow.

"I got us a new app called GuardianGamer. Every day it makes me a short video of the coolest stuff from your Roblox sessions — the things you built, the wins you pulled off, the friends you teamed up with. I want to celebrate that with you — and actually understand what it's like in there with you. Voice chat works with friends we both approve. Sound fair?"
